git clone exception This should be simple. Why does git clone fail on my Windows 10 Linux machine? PS
C:\Users\andre> git clone git@github.com:andre/test.git Cloning into 'test'... fatal: unable to access '': The server certificate is invalid. The command completed successfully. PS C:\Users\andre> I could really use your help. :) A:

According to this older thread, git for windows has issues with github https certificates: I was having the same issue and fixed it by adding a new acme.sh file to /etc/git-core and checking the relevant section in its content. At the end of the file, there is the following content: echo $GIT_SSL_NO_VERIFY > /etc/git-core/ssh I guess it affects the git server (not the git client) You are greatly appreciated. A: This line is the problem. if (!$this->loadModel('EventMimeType')) The if statement tells us that the EventMimeType model did not load. You are then attempting to load another Model in here. $this->loadModel('EventMimeType') This won't work because `$this->loadModel()` has already loaded the Event model. You can also use `Model::first()` to get the model.

The need to eat healthier has brought about an abundance of high quality, organic produce that we can enjoy without harming our health. Organic produce is also a great deal more expensive than conventionally farmed produce.

Here are some ways you can help decrease your food costs while supporting your health.

1. Grow It Yourself

Food costs keep steadily increasing as the world's population continues to grow. But you don't have to sacrifice healthy food choices because you don't have the time to grow it yourself. Check out
