First Fleet of Georgia The First Fleet of Georgia is the name given to a number of different vessels that transported Georgian colonists from England to the lands they would occupy between 1712 and 1821. The fleets were under the orders of the British East India Company. First Fleet The First Fleet of Georgia left England for the colony of Georgia on April 15, 1712. It consisted of the ships Dromundyshire, Invincible, Manchester and St. George, and carried 1,400 white colonists and the fleet commander, the earl of Dartmouth. The fleet arrived in Batumi on May 27, 1712 and arrived at the villages of Vardzia and Kveshi in the region of Abul-Qasr in June 1712. After the villagers complained about the local Georgian ruler Kartlis Tengiz, Dartmouth ordered the fleet to march at "breakneck speed" (at a speed of about fifteen miles a day) to Ganja. In July 1712 the fleet arrived at Ganja where, on August 12, Tengiz was deposed and the fleet commander was murdered. The fleet continued its march to the region of Aragyi. and under the orders of the new Georgian ruler Gelati IV of Georgia, founded the cities of Akhaltsikhe and Kurji. Second Fleet The Second Fleet of Georgia left England for the colony of Georgia in July 1727 and consisted of the ships Infanta Maria Luisa, Invincible, Manchester and St. George and carried about 1,000 white colonists from England, commanded by Admiral Sir John Harris. It arrived in Bari on September 7, 1727 and arrived at the port of Batumi on September 15, 1727. The fleet was welcomed by the Ottoman Empire and the people of Georgia c6a93da74d
